3. turn up
4. run back
5. look down your nose at
6. wipe something off something
7. figure out
8. hand out something
9. pick up the phone
10. find out

IDOMS

- A. to think that you are better or more important than someone, or to think that something is not good enough for you / traktować kogoś z gory
- B. an offer which is no longer officially available or is not being considered / wycofany, nieaktualny
- C. to give something to each of a number of people / rozdać

Now check the meanings in the sentences:

1.

Harvey: The woman isn't a world-class felon. She'll turn up.

Woman: Well, it better be soon, or the deal's off the table and I'm going after your clients.

2.

Mike: The water was right outside the room, okay? And you said innocent people don't run. Do guilty people run back to the scene of the crime?

3.

Man: You think I don't know what attorney-client privilege is? You know, you corporate lawyers look down your noses at us because we didn't go to Ivy league schools. Just because I don't have a fancy degree doesn't mean you get to come into my house and order me around.

4.

Harvey: That's funny, but you might want to wipe that grin off your face.

5.

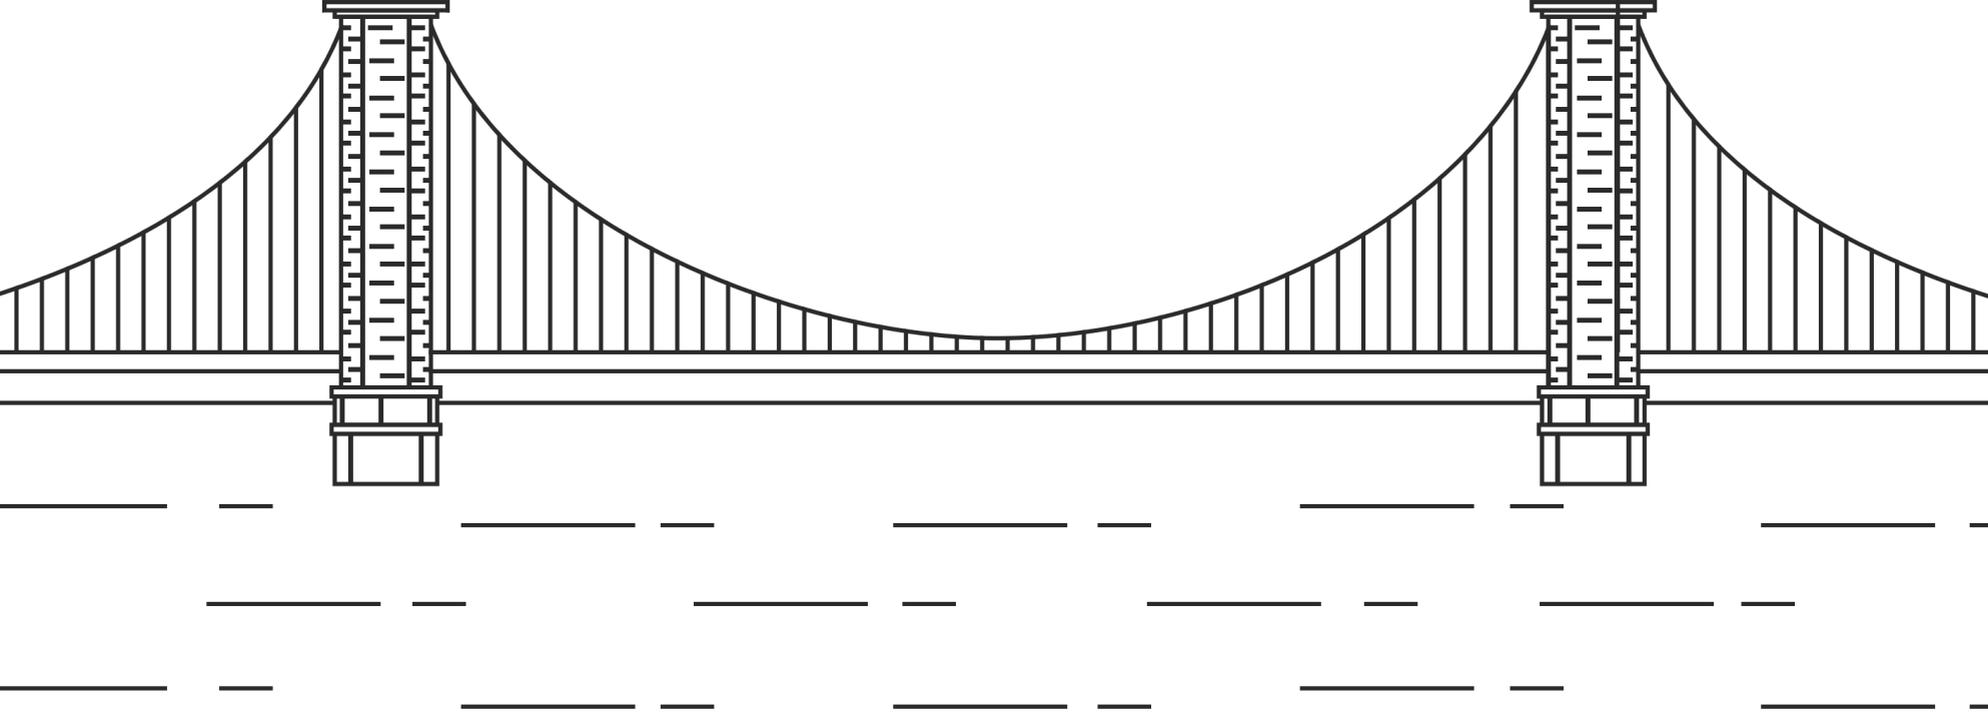

Harvey: You figure out how to get the most profitable trades yet, Mike?

6.

Harvey: Once he got this information, he handed out one tip sheet different from all the others, so the trader, in this instance, Gabrielle Stone, would make a trade not knowing that she was acting on an illegal tip.

7.

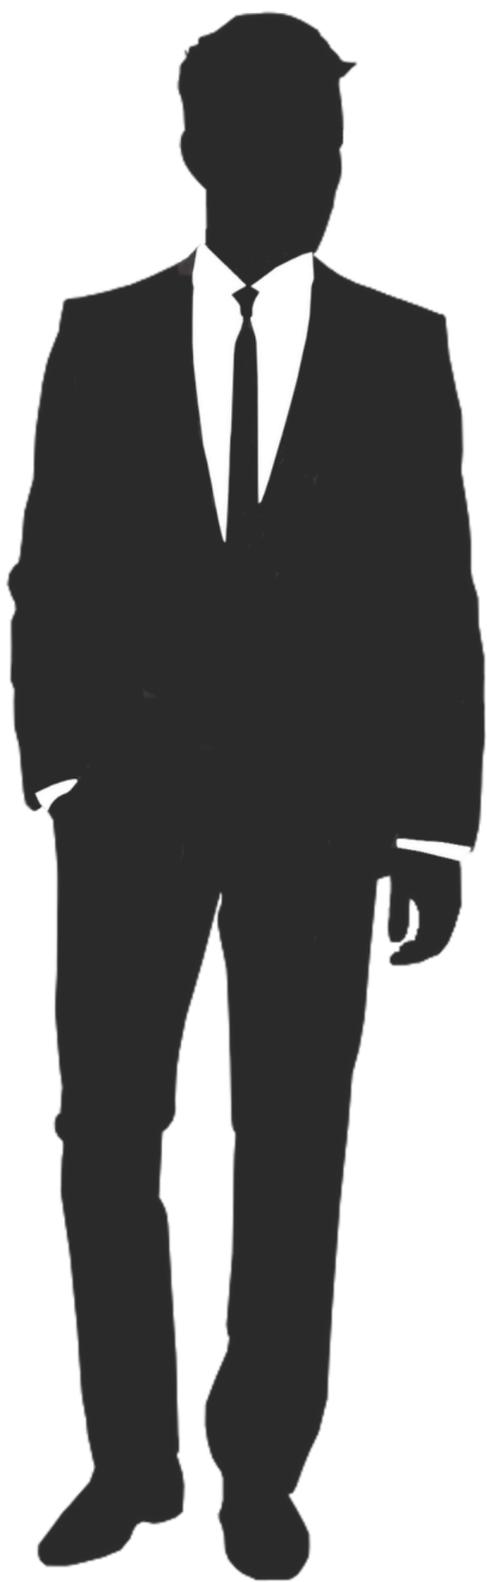

Rachel: You're the test genius, right? Mike, I could pick up the phone and find out right now.
